Squabble Over Money Bill

House-Senate Tiff May Extend Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was ready today to fire another salvo at the Senate in the prestige fight that already has prolonged this session of Congress to a record peacetime length in terms of days actually open for business.

Vehicle for the newest blast is a Senate resolution that would provide emergency financing for the Agriculture Department at least until the next session and perhaps until next June.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma scheduled as today's first order of business a resolution relating to the Senate proposal.

Leader leaked the word that the House resolution would, in effect, tell the Senate in polite words to "go to blazes," by refusing to consider the Senate measure.

The position of House leaders is that the Senate resolution, passed last Thursday, amounted to that body originating an appropriation measure.

The House long has insisted that it alone can originate money bills, a position with which the Senate violently disagrees. The controversy already has reached the point that five annual appropriation bills for the fiscal year that started more than three months ago still are bogged down on Capitol Hill.

There are no major obstacles to final action on pending money bills other than the agriculture measure. House action on one of them, a $5-billion public works measure, is slated for today.

If the Senate stands firm and turns down the House resolution for temporary financing of farm programs, the deadlock would tighten and Congress could be held in session indefinitely.

Two other measures are involved in adjournment plans but they could be disposed of rapidly if the prestige fight is settled.

One of them provides tax relief for self-employed persons who set up their own retirement programs. It is on the President's desk and he has until midnight

U.S. May Pay Part of Bill for Cubans' Release

Private Groups May Not Be Able To Raise Total

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American taxpayer apparently will have to pay a share of the bill if prisoners taken in the abortive Cuban invasion are released.

Members of Congress who have been kept up to date on the progress of negotiations between New York attorney James B. Donovan and Prime Minister Fidel Castro for an exchange of 1,113 men captured in the April 1961 fiasco indicated they expect emergency funds to be used.

Decision Not Made

There have been reports that the Central Intelligence Agency would come up with some of the money. But a Congress member in a position to know said he does not believe any final decision has been made.

Castro has asked for payment of $62 million for release of the prisoners. Donovan is attempting to work out an agreement for the furnishing of food and medicine to Cuba in return for their release.

Some members of Congress said they do not believe a private organization such as the Cuban Prisoners Committee could come close to raising any such sum as $62 million or could assemble food and medicine valued at that amount.

U.S. May Seal Bargain

This leads them to the assumption that government supplies and money will be utilized to seal any barter bargain.

Castro postponed a scheduled meeting with Donovan Tuesday, informed sources reported. They said Castro put off the session so he could welcome Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos back from the United Nations.

Dorticos declined comment when asked about the prisoner situation before his departure from New York.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said no agreement had been reached, but negotiations were continuing.

A word of caution was injected by informed Washington sources into speculation that the prisoners' release was imminent.

Some Possible Barriers

These sources said there still were some possible barriers to an agreement and warned that premature disclosure of negotiation details could make those barriers more difficult to surmount.

Havana sources had said that only one final meeting between Donovan and Castro stood in the way of the prisoners' liberation.

Bar Endorses Judge Buzzard

Urges Appointment To Appellate Post

The Columbiana County Bar Association Tuesday unanimously endorsed Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond S. Buzzard for judge of the 7th District Court of Appeals.

Atty. Alfred L. Fitch, president, said the bar group took the action at a meeting at the Court-house in response to a request for a recommendation from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

The vacancy on the three-man bench was created Sept. 22 when Gov. DiSalle appointed a former member, Judge Lynn B. Griffith of Warren, to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Judge Griffith, the 125th judge to sit on the Ohio Supreme Court bench since the high court was established, took his oath of office Monday in Columbus in a ceremony witnessed by Gov. DiSalle and more than 50 other spectators.

Griffith succeeds Judge James F. Bell of London, who resigned to practice law.

The other two members of the 7th District Appellate Court are Paul Brown and John Donahue, both of Youngstown.

In endorsing Judge Buzzard, the county lawyers cited his qualifications acquired through graduation from law school, years

2 Newsmen Arrested For 'Snapping' Jackie

WASHINGTON (AP) — A news photographer covering Jacqueline Kennedy's return from a three-month vacation was held briefly by National Airport police after a Secret Service agent ruled him off limits and confiscated three rolls of film.

The film was returned at the White House later. Press secretary Pierre Salinger said "it was a misunderstanding."

Mrs. Kennedy and her two children flew in from Newport, R.I., late Tuesday amid elaborate precautions to guard her privacy.

Photographer Roddy Mims and courier John Steinberger, both of United Press International, were taken into custody by airport police who said the two had entered a restricted section of the airport.

Mrs. Kennedy's Air Force plane taxied to a remote part of the field, far from the military and commercial passenger terminals.

A wire fence rings the area, used primarily for parking of airplanes. Signs reading "restricted area, keep out" are posted along the fence.

The White House had announced the First Lady's expected arrival time. A White House motorcade and Secret Service men waited near the fence for the plane.

It taxied to a stop almost half a mile away. The motorcade moved out onto the field to meet the First Lady and the Kennedys' two children, Caroline and John Jr. Newsmen were kept behind

Schnell Workers Vote For Union

In two separate elections Tuesday afternoon, the United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, won the right to represent employees of the Salem Stamping and Manufacturing Co. and Schnell Tool & Die Corp.

Out of 39 workers eligible to vote at Salem Stamping and Manufacturing, 29 cast ballots in favor of joining the union and six voted against joining. There were three challenged ballots, making a total of 38 votes cast.

At Schnell Tool & Die, which includes the former Gonda Engineering Co., 28 votes were in favor of the union, 22 against. With three challenged ballots in this election also, a total of 53 of the 56 eligible workers cast ballots.

A simple majority of votes was needed for the union's victory. Five days must lapse before National Labor Relations Board will certify the results of the election, Ed Hilland, United Steelworkers spokesman, said today.

"After that, meetings will be arranged between company and union officials for negotiating and collective bargaining."

11 Die, 50 Hurt In Train Crash

Warsaw-Vienna Express Derails

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Warsaw-Vienna Express crashed into a derailed express from Budapest south of Warsaw Tuesday night. Transport Ministry officials said at least 11 persons were killed and more than 50 injured.

At least 16 coaches of the two fast international trains left the rails, blocking the Warsaw-Prague-Vienna main line.

The nationalities of the casualties could not be learned immediately. Officials said the number of dead and wounded might go higher.

Officials said 11 coaches of the Warsaw-bound express from Budapest left the track when the train hit some broken rails. Two of the coaches blocked the southbound track.

Moments later, the southbound express for Vienna hit the wreckage at 60 miles an hour.

Officials would not comment on the possibility that saboteurs or vandals had removed sections of the track on the northbound line. But the chief district prosecutor went from Lodz to the scene.

The wreck occurred at Moszczenica, about halfway between Warsaw and Katowice in Southern Poland.

Workmen spent the night cutting apart twisted steel coaches and moving injured passengers to hospitals in nearby towns. All ambulances in the district were pressed into service.

New Donors Invited To Bloodmobile

Only 35 of 125 needed donors have signed up for the scheduled visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile here next Tuesday.

Louis Raymond, chairman of the North Columbiana County Chapter of the American Red Cross, appealed today to persons who have never donated before. He also urged recruitment workers to redouble their efforts.

The bloodmobile unit will be stationed at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church educational building on S. Broadway next Tuesday from 12 to 6 p.m.

"Actually it is necessary to recruit 176 donors in order to assure the 125-pint quota because of the possibility that some people will be deferred because of colds or other reasons."

The chairman pointed out that the blood program of the North Columbiana County Chapter is excellent but recalled that the winter months often make quotas difficult and pull down the chapter average. He expressed hope that the goal will be exceeded next Tuesday.

West Branch School Open House Dates Set

West Branch's new high school building on Route 173 just south of Beloit will be open for public inspection Sunday at 2 p.m. and also the ensuing Tuesday, Oct. 21, the board of education decided at its monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Student members of the National Honor Society will serve as guides for tours of the newly-completed building and the public is urged to take advantage of the opportunity to visit the new school.

Action on bids for science equipment for the new high school was postponed last night and a special meeting will be called to act on bids received.

A letter from Olin Shoar, president of the Beloit village water board, pertaining to water pressure, was read. The board decided that adults eating at the school cafeteria will continue to pay 35c for their meal. Students pay 30c.

The repair job on the blacktop at Knox School was tabled for lack of bids. The glass at Goshen Center School will be tinted immediately and the glass at Maple Ridge will be tinted during a later vacation period. The furnace at the Beloit building is being installed and will be in operation in the near future.

Wilbur Dimit was authorized to take elementary class pictures. It was emphasized again by the board that drivers of school buses are not to start out on their routes on foggy mornings until the fog lifts.

GROUP ENDORSES LEVY

LISBON—At a special meeting Tuesday night the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council voted to go on record as endorsing the county commissioners' levy on the November ballot for improving the Columbiana County Home.

A special Mass for the Church in Communist lands was scheduled at the Basilica of St. Mary Major with Juan Cardinal Landaruri Ricketts, archbishop of Lima, Peru, officiating.

Refugees from East European countries and Communist China were accorded a place of honor. The fact that some prelates from what the Vatican calls "the church of silence" were allowed to come to the council indicated that Communist leaders felt obliged to make some grudging concessions to Catholic world opinion.

Four prelates from Lithuania arrived by plane Tuesday night. Three bishops from Czechoslovakia were coming by train from Prague.

One of the largest Iron Curtain delegations was a group of 11 Polish bishops headed by Stefan

Catholics Gather For Ecumenical Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Roman Catholics were asked to give special prayers for the church behind the Iron Curtain today on the eve of the opening of the church's 21st ecumenical council.

The appeal came from the International Pontifical Marian Academy as the last of the 2,600 council fathers trickled into Rome for the opening Thursday of the historic church conclave.

The Vatican said nearly 50 bishops and archbishops from countries behind the Iron Curtain had made it to Rome for the council. But at least 170 bishops and archbishops in Red-ruled countries had not.

Teams Urged to Canvass From Morn 'Til Night

Smith Cites Pledge System to Reach Goal By Oct. 26

United Fund campaign captains and team representatives, numbering 125, and their general chairman, Superintendent of Schools Paul E. Smith, gathered for the annual drive's kick-off dinner Tuesday evening in Memorial Building, determined to accomplish what hasn't been done here for two years — meet the $82,000 fund goal.

A first report this morning showed $37,200 in cash and pledges due to early work by the advance team.

The fact that last year the drive's $82,000 goal was missed by $7,000, and that reaching $82,000 this year will not be easy, Superintendent Smith used a poem by Christina Rossetti to open his dinner address:

"Does the road wind uphill all the way? Yes, to the very end. Will the day's journey take the whole long day? From morn to night, my friend."

The drive, which opened officially Tuesday evening, is scheduled to conclude Oct. 26.

Stresses Pledge System

Rather than urging the donating of cash, Smith strongly suggested that the pledge plan be used this year. "Since we live in a charge account economy, we might as well include the United Fund as

Mississippi U. To Discipline Riot Students

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department plans to let the University of Mississippi deal with 20 students involved in the disturbances that greeted James H. Meredith's enrollment last week.

Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said documentary evidence about the students' role would be turned over to Ole Miss officials today. Earlier, they were given a list of students the Justice Department said took part in the riots that left two dead and scores injured.

The material prepared by the Justice Department for the university includes tapes, transcripts and photographs of the role students played in the campus disorders.

Katzenbach said putting disciplinary action in the hands of the university did not mean that no criminal charges would be filed against any students.

It was learned that photographs of students who jeered and yelled at Meredith outside the university cafeteria Monday night were being turned over to university officials.

In Washington, Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance said Negro troops were not used on patrols at first to avoid "unnecessary incidents." But he said they were now being used for "all normal functions in all operations."

The Army announced withdrawal of another 5,900 regular Army troops from the Mississippi-Tennessee area, bringing to 11,300 the number pulled out in two days. Some 10,000 troops remain in the immediate Oxford vicinity.

The Army also directed release from federal service of 30 percent of 3,000 Mississippi National

Cites Power Grabs, Political Connivance

Ike Lashes Administration

By GORDON C. GAUSS
DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, stumping Western states for Republican candidates, has accused the Kennedy administration of political connivance and selfish grabs for power.

In a speech to almost 10,000 in the Denver Coliseum Tuesday night, Eisenhower said: "The Washington record of these past 20 months presents a picture of political connivance instead of statesmanship; of selfish grabs for power instead of respect for our concepts of balance in government; of arrogant assertion of Washington infallibility instead of readiness to trust in the wisdom of the American people." He made no specific mention of President Kennedy or presidential aides but referred to persons "wandering aimlessly around their far frontier."

At one point Eisenhower interjected into his prepared speech: "I believe you must take an interest in politics or be ready to take orders. Take your choice."

Eisenhower's schedule called for a morning takeoff from Denver and stops at Omaha and Minneapolis, en route to Washington.

The former president began his speaking tour Monday, campaigning in California for his former vice president, Richard M. Nixon, who is running for governor against the Democratic incumbent, Edmund G. Brown.

At Boise, Idaho, Eisenhower also criticized his successors in Washington.

"I am sick and tired," he said, "of them telling the American people they did nothing for eight years (during Eisenhower's administration), that only if they will embrace the pie-in-the-sky platform of the so-called New Frontier they will be moving."

He slapped at "an unremitting and consistent grab of power—much of it in the executive department," in a speech to an airport crowd of more than 2,000 at Cheyenne, Wyo., in the afternoon.

Only 3 Seats Available For First Trip to Moon

By JOHN BARBOUR
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sixteen American astronauts have tickets for that first trip to the moon. But the flight is sadly oversold.

There are only three seats available.

Only two of these will land on the moon. One astronaut will have to stay with the main spaceship, parked in orbit around the moon.

It will be a tricky effort from the moment the 300-foot Saturn rocket blasts off from earth to that second of glory when a man-made space cab comes to rest on the lunar surface.

We are going, President Kennedy said, on "an untried mission to an unknown celestial body."

The trip will be made step by step, the first cautious ones already taken. Three Americans have orbited the earth for a total of 18 hours. Sometime early next year, likely, at least one astronaut, maybe more, will go into earth orbit for a full day.

After that the space program will take its first major step—to Gemini spacecraft. The Gemini, about twice as big as the Mercury spaceships, will carry two men into orbit around the earth, after early test flights.

It will be able to stay in orbit for up to two weeks, with enough oxygen and electrical power. Or,

3 Runaway Youths Caught by Sheriff

LISBON — Three Wilmington, Del., youths, two aged 14 and one 15, are in detention at the county jail after being taken into custody by Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan Tuesday at 5 p.m. in West Point.

The youths were apprehended following an extensive search in the vicinity of Beaver Local High School by the Ohio Highway Patrol and sheriff's deputies. The boys had abandoned a 1956 sedan there and fled through the fields.

The youths were first spotted at the Super-30 Drive-In Theatre by the manager who tried to question them. He followed them to Beaver Local High School when they drove away. After the boys left the car and ran, he called patrolmen who also alerted the sheriff's office.

The youths admitted stealing the car in Wilmington and driving this far. Wilmington authorities reported parents of the youths will come after them.

You Are a Part of the UF Campaign

"No man liveth to himself alone."

That is a key phrase from the appeal of the city's annual United Fund campaign which got off to a good start today with chest teamworkers beginning their solicitations on assigned territories.

And because no man can live aloof and unconcerned about the cares and problems of his fellowman, community chest drives are held here—and in other cities—to sustain the important "red feather" agencies which give comfort and assistance to all who need their help.

Twelve Salem organizations are dependent on the success of the Salem drive and if the $82,000 goal is not reached in the weeks to follow, curtailment of important services will follow in the year to come.

Fortunately, most Salem citizens are generous at United Appeals time because they recognize the importance of such agencies as the Home For Aged Women, the community center at the Memorial Building, the YWCA, the Girl and Boy Scouts, Catholic Charities and the Salvation Army, City Hospital and the Central Clinic, the Home Nursing Service, the Ohio championship American Legion Quaker City Band, the School of Practical Nursing, and the Red Cross. The latter no longer holds a separate local drive but is included in the United Fund.

Untold hundreds of persons benefit in one way or another from the operation of these organizations, not as recipients of charity but through attendance at year-round community events at the YW and the Memorial Building, among others.

Salem would be in a miserable state if it were not for this fine diversity of community service agencies. Demonstrate your appreciation with a generous gift or pledge. Everyone must help.

We Can Hope For the Best

The United States is in a curious position on Cuba in the United Nations. It must deny everything Cuban complainants say about it while hoping that most of what they say is true.

Officially, the United States feels it must be part of a solid American front for facing common American problems. Officially, it feels it must modify its feelings about Communist infiltration of Cuba to avoid giving other Latin American governments a fresh excuse for talking about "intervention."

Contrary to hit-'em-in-the-jugular actionists who would pay no attention to the opinion of their American governments, the Kennedy administration is solicitous of American good will. It knows it cannot ask its neighbors to forget their antipathy to "gunboat" diplomacy. It knows Castro has no friends in Latin America and will make none unless he can cast himself in the role of martyr.

This he cannot do while the United States abstains from going after him in earnest.

Steel Price Will Be Competitive

When President Leslie B. Worthington of U.S. Steel, the country's largest producers, says steel prices will remain "competitive" in the light of a $12-a-ton average cut by Kaiser Steel, he is voicing an orthodox reaction. It sounds reassuring. Americans like competition.

The still unexplained mystery of steel pricing is that move early last Spring to bring about an industrywide price increase at a time when steel prices were sharply competitive, in the sense of selling practices.

It was reported in the steel trade at the time and never denied that producers were selling steel catch-as-catch-can in a buyer's market. They were taking business where they could find it and glad to get it.

Everybody wondered at that time how a price increase could be made to fit in with steel competition from abroad, which had nothing to sell here but lower prices. What chance would higher-priced steel have?

It didn't make sense then and it doesn't make sense now, looking back on it. Even when spokesmen for steel producers explained they needed to raise prices to buy more machinery to get rid of more human labor in their mills it didn't make sense because mechanization is long-term business—and price competition is right now.

The immediacy of competition is even more urgent when it pops up in the form of a Kaiser Steel price cut right here in the United States. The blow is aimed at Eastern products and Japanese imports, but the impact will be scattered over the entire country.

Perhaps part of the explanation lies in this:

Last April when the steel industry failed to hang together on the price rise announced by the largest producers, Kaiser Steel was a close second to Inland Steel in pulling the string by announcing it wouldn't follow U.S. Steel's price-increasing lead.

The competition that bristled in that situation is still bristling, even though it's long-range in view of the fact Kaiser produces steel only on the West Coast.

There's a long, long trail awinding when your car runs out of gas between service stations.

Women are taken at their face value, says a writer. Not when they're in bathing suits.

Embraceable U

By Truman Twill

There's an electronic interview in sports that goes like this:

Interviewer: How did you feel, Butcher Boy, when you turned around and saw that ball floating toward you with only No. 23, the Fantastic Phantom, between you and the goal line and the rain was coming down harder all the time and the crowd was going wild and there were only five more seconds showing on the clock and it was the last game of your collegiate career and your girl was watching in the stands, in the seat where she always sits for the home games? How did you feel, huh?

Athlete: Good.

Interviewer: How did it feel when you got that old leather in your arms and plunged over the goal line with the Fantastic Phantom and half the team from Embraceable U piling on top of you talking you with their safety helmets, grinding their fists into your belly, clawing at your eyes through your face mask and spitting tobacco juice into your dirt-encrusted face? How did it feel, huh?

Athlete: Bad.

Interviewer: How did your girl feel when you went up to her after the game and she put her arms around you and kissed you after you had taken off your hat and wiped your dirty face on the shirt tails of several nearby players and the photographers kept asking for just one more please, hold her closer Butcher Boy, that's it — now hold it? How'd that feel?

Athlete: Good.

Interviewer: How did you feel in the locker room when the trainer looked at your arm that had been hurting since you hit in on the uplight of the goal post midway in the first quarter after you had run the wrong way the length of the field for the touchdown for the other team that almost lost you the championship of the league and said it was broken in two places and you were lucky it hadn't fallen off and this was the same arm you broke in three places last year. How'd you feel about that, boy?

Interviewer: And what are your plans now? Are you still going to spend the winter in Florida around swimming pools, hoping to find somebody looking for an all-American football player at $25,000 a year plus what can be made on the side?

Athlete: Yup.

Interviewer: Before we go off the air, Butcher Boy, do you have a message for the kiddies of America — the Butcher Boys of tomorrow? Is there anything you would like to say to them to keep them from thinking about mugging, knife, shooting craps, the moon, zip guns and make them think about becoming taxpayers who will be kind to their mothers, defend the virtue of their unmarried sisters and help the little and brownie points?

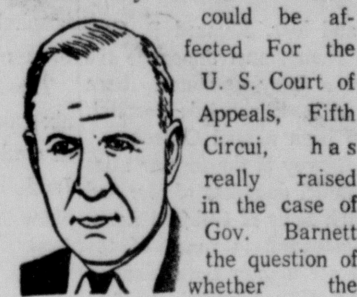

Athlete: Well...

Interviewer: That was the famous Butcher Boy of Southdown U. folks, and now a message from our sponsor, Fertilizer Chunkies. Folks, have you tried Fertilizer Chunkies lately? They are...

All of us: You can be sure of it.

Can Governor be Ousted by Charges of Contempt?

The Mississippi story — legally speaking — is just beginning to unfold one of its most important issues. Every state in the Union charge and subjected to a jail sentence, thus interfering with the exercise of his duties as the chief executive of a state.

David Lawrence, governor of a state can be removed from office by court order on a contempt

For decades past the principle accepted by the federal and state courts has been that a president of the United States or the governor of a state can be removed from office only by the impeachment process. If the rule is reversed now by the Supreme Court of the United States — assuming that it will choose to hear the case at all — it would be possible for a private litigant hereafter to insist that a president or a governor appear in court and be subjected to cross-examination at the command of the court.

Even congressional committees could then order a president to appear before them, and, if he refused to do so, a judicial summons could be issued demanding that he show cause why he shouldn't be held in contempt. If he were adjudged in contempt, he could then be imprisoned and thus removed from the office to which he had been elected.

IT SO HAPPENS that these very issues were discussed in July 1961 when a U. S. Senate committee, investigating gambling practices in Florida, issued a subpoena ordering Gov. Fuller Warren of Florida to appear and answer questions. Mr. Warren filed a comprehensive brief covering all the legal points, and, as a consequence, the Senate committee did not press for the enforcement of the subpoena.

Past rulings indicate that, while a governor may ignore a court order so far as his personal appearance in court is concerned, nobody else in the state government can do so. Hence, a court can enjoin one or more state officials from carrying out any illegal act even if it is ordered officially by a governor.

As for the governor, however, he is himself immune from arrest and punishment, the brief contends, because no court can remove a governor or interfere with his right to remain in office for the term for which he is elected. He can be removed only by impeachment by the state legislature as provided in the constitution of that state.

THE BRIEF points out that it doesn't make any difference whether the court order is served on a governor as an official or as an individual. It is contended that the court can issue such an order any time, but a governor or a president can ignore it without being compelled even to give any reason for his refusal.

When President Thomas Jefferson refused to respond to a federal court subpoena, Chief Justice Marshall of the Supreme Court of the United States upheld him, in an opinion written in behalf of the court, even though Mr. Jefferson gave no reason for his refusal to testify.

In other cases in state courts, similar attempts by citizens to bring a governor personally into court under a court order to testify have been uniformly rebuffed. In one case — Thompson vs. German Valley Railroad — the highest court of the State of New Jersey said:

Such order ought not to be made against the executive of the state, because it might bring the executive in conflict with the judiciary. If the executive thinks he ought to testify, in compliance with the opinion, he will do so without order. If he thinks it to be his official duty, in protecting the rights and dignity of his office, he will not comply, even if directed by an order. And, in his case, the court would hardly entertain proceedings to compel him by adjudging him in contempt. It will be presumed that the chief magistrate intends no contempt, but that his action is in accordance with his official duty."

THE BRIEF filed by Gov. Warren of Florida said:

"No committee of the Congress of the United States, nor the Congress itself, has the power to compel the governor of a sovereign state to answer a subpoena and go to Washington, D.C., to testify concerning matters within his knowledge as governor.

"To recognize the power of a congressional committee to compel the governor of a sovereign state to leave his state and appear before such committee in the nation's capital is to recognize the power of such a committee, at any moment it may elect, to determine whether or not the governor shall perform the duties of his office..."

"The recognition of such power in Congress is to admit that the power lies in one department of the federal government to utterly destroy the entire concept of dual sovereignty..."

While the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has deferred until Oct. 12 the hearing on whether the governor of Mississippi has "purged" himself of alleged contempt, it looks as if the Department of Justice itself may be backing away from the test. If the proceedings are dropped, the episode will nevertheless remain as a species of potential blackmail that could be used upon occasion to enable the U. S. Department of Justice to intimidate the governor of any state.

American High and Low

Communist Infiltrated Union

By VICTOR RIESEL

DENVER Over in Asia I ran into a movie produced by officials of a union which is headquartered here. The Chinese Communists have been gleefully exhibiting it, for it makes us look like we grind humanity into the earth. This Union of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, whose members man our defense industry's most strategic metal supply lines, was ousted from the old CIO on the recommendation of labor's own prosecuting attorney, one Arthur Goldberg, who since has gone on to higher places.

Now I find this union of uranium, nickel, copper, and iron miners and smelters, prospering. I find it deep in politics in a string of Western states from Texas to Washington and Idaho and Montana.

I find candidates for our national Congress and for state offices permitting themselves to be screened by and officially questioned on policy, by this union.

THIS IS ODD. Attorney General Robert Kennedy has only recently submitted sworn documents saying that he reiterates his belief that the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers still is a Communist-infiltrated union, and that he has heard nothing in recent months to change his beliefs.

Furthermore, behind his recent and unreported statements, are the findings of the nation's security forces, including the scientifically objective Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Less out of charity than out of a desire to keep some congressmen from becoming obligated to this union, I call to the politicians' attention that Oct. 17 is almost here. Those who have been auditioning before the Mine, Mill and Smelter Union's political action committees should bear that date in mind. It is just three weeks, before election.

ON OCT. 17, the Subversive Activities Control Board is scheduled to reopen hearings on the Mine-Mill union. The board has already ruled against the union. The charge, handed down on Dec. 26, 1962, said:

"On the basis of the entire record, it is concluded that respondent (the Mine-Mill union) is substantially directed, dominated or controlled by individuals who are, or within three years have been actively engaged in, giving aid or support to the Communist party of the U.S., a Communist-action organization, and is serving, or within three years has served, as a means for the giving of aid or support to such Communist party."

"It follows that respondent is a Communist-infiltrated organization as defined in the (Subversive Activities Control) Act..."

Bob Kennedy replied officially. He said that based on information in his department he must deny their claim that they have changed.

It is the union's right to appeal this. Thus a hearing is set for Oct. 17.

MEANWHILE, however, the union stands charged with being Communist infiltrated, though it has another appeal going before the U.S. Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia.

This bench is being asked by the union to set aside the Subversive Activities Control Board charge of Communist infiltration.

If the appeals judges reject this, the union will go to the Supreme Court. Justice Arthur Goldberg will then disqualify himself. If the high Court upholds the board, national history will be made.

This decision will mean that the union will no longer have either the protection or the use of the National Labor Relations Board — and union officials have said it would put them out of business.

Should this precedent be set the board will be asked to proceed against the other Communist-dominated unions which now dominate some very strategic defense areas.

It may all come up before Congress when new laws are sought. Those who have accepted the support of this union then would have to disqualify themselves. Why don't they look before they leap? Are votes and political office so precious?

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Whenever a page is missing from our newspaper I know my wife didn't want me to see something in your column. Naturally, my curiosity gets the best of me. I want to see what she is hiding, so I go out and buy another paper.

This evening it happened again. I asked my wife in feigned innocence what happened to part of the paper. She said she had torn out a recipe.

I went out after supper and bought a paper. Sure enough, your column had a letter in it from a woman who wanted to know if a wife should pick up after her husband. She had complained because his clothes were all over the house, bath towels were on the floor, etc.

You took the wind out of her sails by telling her to pick up after him and do it cheerfully. You said it wasn't worth fighting about, and that it took less energy to pick up a few things than to fight about it.

I showed the column to my wife and she replied, "Yeah, well I'll bet Ann doesn't pick up after her husband."

This letter is to ask you to answer her question. How about it?—D.L.H.

Dear D. L. H.: I've been picking up after my husband for 24 years and I hope I can do it for at least another 24.

Belated Opinion

Dear Ann: I'm a little late getting into the fray but I hope you'll print my letter anyway. Someone suggested that perhaps the reason physicians refuse to respond to the familiar cry, "Is there a doctor in the house?" is because they fear a malpractice suit if the patient dies.

The idea that patients turn on their rescuers with lawsuits is pure poppycock. Eleven states now have a "Good Samaritan Law" which exempts doctors from liability when giving free emergency service. In most states the law has been vetoed because it is unnecessary.

An official American Medical Association study failed to turn up a single suit arising from roadside emergency treatment. A spot check of state medical societies uncovered only two such suits and they were unsuccessful.

There have been, however, a number of malpractice suits arising from hospital emergency room treatment. These suits have made some doctors leary of administering on-the-spot first aid. Perhaps this is what all the yacking is about. I thought you'd like to know. — YOUR MEDICAL SPY.

Dear Spy: Thanks for the G 2. Another spy informs that a number of malpractice suits are filed and then withdrawn when it becomes apparent they can't get off the ground. Opportunists who think they can put the squeeze on a well-meaning physician find they are a poor match for the medical society's attorneys.

Reasonable Doubt

Dear Ann: I feel like a fool having to write for advice but I'm beginning to doubt my own judgment.

I'm a career woman and a widow who has been going with a man for three years. He has told me he is divorced. When I ask questions about his former wife he claims up and the evening is spoiled, so now I studiously avoid the subject.

In all the time we've been going together he never has given me his phone number. I have yet to meet a single member of his family although I know he has a brother and two sisters in town as well as parents. He says he will marry me when he gets a few of his financial problems settled. I'm beginning to get suspicious.

Why can't I phone him? Why has he never taken me to see his apartment? Why doesn't he introduce me to his family? What is he hiding? — PENNSIE PET.

Dear Pet: Probably a wife and family. Get with it, Sister.

Others Looking for Work

Last summer when the News printed the story about the Mullins Mfg. Co. relocating in Salem, company officials were quoted as saying that "very few would be brought in from Warren, only the very specially skilled."

There are many Salem men still waiting to be hired. Last week they needed more men but they brought them all in from Warren.

Mullins' consolidation here may have helped get previously laid-off men back to work but it hasn't helped others who are still looking for jobs.

Life Did The Rest

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Marriage sure seems to change people, doesn't it?

It turns perfect young lovers into imperfect husbands and wives.

Before the ceremony each saw the other as a big ideal; after the ceremony, when each found what the other was like, they both began asking, "What's the big idea?"

During courtship he would not let her lift her little finger. Now she has to lift both his big feet when she wants to vacuum the rug under them.

He used to jump up when she entered the room. Now he just rolls over on the sofa.

As a bride, she was lifted across her threshold in his strong loving arms. As a wife, loaded down with groceries and laundry, it takes all her strength to totter over the welcome mat before their door.

Before marriage he told her, "Your slightest wish is my command." Afterward he demands, "Now what is it you want?"

Once upon a time he said, "No wife of mine is ever going to work." Now he says, "We can't get a new car until you get a better job."

She used to compliment him on being the life of every party they went to. Now she threatens, "The minute you start making a fool of yourself, I'm going home."

Formerly, they smiled at the lovable eccentricities of each other's relatives. Now both are convinced they married into a family of wild-eyed lunatics.

"Don't ever be sad—I can't stand it," he murmured to her in an earlier day. Now he shouts, "I don't see what you've got to cry about!"

Her face then haunted him like a vision in a dream. Now he reads the newspaper in the morning so he won't be haunted by that apparition in hair curlers that sits across from him at breakfast.

He used to light her cigarette for her and then put it in her lips. Now he yelps, "When are you going to give up chain-smoking?"

Once they strolled hand-in-hand together under the full moon, laughing the summer night away. Now he falls asleep in his chair when she turns on the television set after dinner.

"Anything you want to do is fine whines when she asks to be taken with me," he used to say. Now he out, "Don't you ever want to stay home?"

Before the ceremony they thought it would be fun to raise a dozen kids. Now they fuss about whose turn it is to go to the PTA meeting.

She used to love to run her fin-

Then she wondered if he really loved her. Now the wonder is gone. She knows he does.

Then he also wondered if she

But what happened to make them both change so much? They didn't actually change. The sem-

Mrs. Donald F. Holtz

Helen Louise Liebhart Wed To Donald F. Holtz

An evening candlelight ceremony solemnized Saturday in the Emmanuel Lutheran church united in marriage Miss Helen Louise Liebhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew W. Liebhart of 518 Fair Ave., and Donald F. Holtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Holtz of Johnstown, Pa.

Rev. R. D. Freseman officiated at the exchange of vows in a double ring service at 7:30 p.m. before an altar graced with twin vases of white gladioli and Shasta pompons backed with a bow of ivory and palms lighted with ceremonial tapers in twin seven-branched cathedral candelabra. Mrs. Martin Roth was soloist, and David R. Freseman presided at the organ console.

Escorted down the aisle, whose pew ends were marked with white bows, by her father, the bride was given in marriage by her parents.

She wore a princess-styled gown of white peau de soie satin designed and made by her mother. The shallow scooped neckline was trimmed with imported Swiss embroidered appliques sprinkled with seed pearls and sequins.

The fitted bodice had long fitted sleeves and appliques at the midriff. The skirt was gently flared in front and swept to extreme fullness in the back, ending in a cathedral train. Her flowing veil of double thin French silk illusion was caught to a princess crown of pearls and crystals and swept to the end of the gown and her cascade bouquet was of white roses and stephanotis. For her traditional "something old," she wore a ring which belonged to her great-grandmother.

Mrs. Sandra S. Banar, her sister's matron of honor, wore a gown of light blue silk organza over satin with fitted bodice and full sheer pleated skirt complemented by a headpiece of blue flowers with pearl fingers and theatre veil.

Bridesmaids were Miss Alice Holtz of Johnstown, Pa., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Karyle Best of Lafayette, Ind. Their gowns were of royal blue nylon over taffeta with fitted bodices and bell shaped skirts with bows.

Among the 250 persons registered by Miss Eleanor Lucas of Alliance and Miss Caroline Sanlo of Salem were guests from Washington, D. C., Johnstown, Pa., Columbus, Pittsburgh, Pa., Maryland and Indiana.

Mrs. Herman Allison, Mrs. Walter Liebhart, of Salem, Mrs. Harley Walters of Rogers, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Vivian Crowl of Lisbon, another aunt of the bride, assisted with serving.

A graduate of Salem Senior High School and Humboldt Institute of Minneapolis, Minn., the bride is employed by the federal government at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Holtz is a graduate of Franklin High School, Johnstown, Pa., and served three years in the armed forces. He is employed by the E. G. Schaeffer Plumbing and Heating Co. at Washington D. C.

The rehearsal party was held Friday evening at the home of the bride's parents. Gifts were presented to the attendants.

Following a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination, for which the bride wore a brown wool suit and a white orchid corsage, the couple will reside at Hyattsville, Maryland.

I know it's shaky ground but please grant us this one favor, ROSEMARY MATZEN

DEAR ROSIE: You don't know how shaky that ground is I'm standing on! But here are my ideas that I have found proved satisfactorily after the many letters like yours:

When shopping for specials I put all of the items that have been marked down in the right hand corner of my basket nearest the bar that you push it with. As I go along each row picking up items that I need weekly and do find another bargain in a sale item I also put it in this one stack in the same corner of the basket.

Heloise Answers

This is very easy to remember, because as you come to the checkout stand, the girl will be ringing up your groceries which are regular priced first . . . and when she gets to the bottom of the basket this will give you time to remember all of those items that are in that one little corner are sale items!

If you see her pick up a can of peas that says 24 cents, and 24 cents is stamped on this can, say to yourself "That's a sale item."

Now . . . there is no need for you to be embarrassed to call attention to a clerk that she has rung up 24 cents instead of 19 cents. Just say in a nice voice, "Isn't that a sale item?" It is your privilege to question this. If the girl says "No, it says 24 cents," say "Yes, ma'am, but you have a sale on today."

If you are the type of woman that most of my readers say they are, and cannot question this, let it go, but walk back through the store and check the price again before you leave . . . just to make sure.

Ladies, I have spot checked many stores and I know what you are thinking about. But let me give you another little parting thought today . . . clerks at checkout stands see thousands of items a day, and when something is stamped 24 cents, naturally they ring it up. This is called routine! Checkers are ever so happy to be questioned, and don't wish to cheat you in the slightest way. I doubt if half of these checkout girls ever realize it!

If you paid $295 for a new refrigerator and the salesman charged you $320, you would certainly question that! But remember that the refrigerator salesman is not selling a thousand items every few hours, and he is well aware of his prices.

So perhaps the fault lies with us, me included . . . and the secret is that when you are buying 40 and 50 items at one time to put all of your sale items in the bottom of a corner in your basket. This way you can remember easily when it comes time to go through the checkout stand.

I know how you feel. Oen thing I want you to understand is that every housewife feels the same way. We have received hundreds of letters on this.

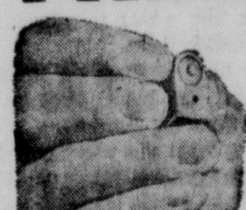

If you have any better ideas on this subject, we would like to hear them. Write to Heloise in care of The Salem News. Letters do not have to be signed to appear.

Starzel, General Manager Of AP 14 Years, To Retire

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank J. Starzel, general manager of The Associated Press, is retiring after 14 years as chief executive officer of the worldwide news service.

The AP's board of directors, holding its regular fall meeting here, announced that it "reluctantly accepts (his) own carefully considered decision." The board is expected to name his successor today.

Starzel, 58, joined The AP in 1929. He plans to retire to his farm near South Londonderry, Vt.

His announcement followed by two weeks that of Executive Editor Alan J. Gould, after 21 years in the AP's top news post. Gould, who joined the AP in 1922, will retire next Feb. 1 at 65.

Starzel reminded the board at its meeting Tuesday that his decision was "based on reasons of which the president of The Associated Press was informed three years ago, to be effective upon the completion of several major projects then being undertaken."

"With the contemplated developments nearing completion," he continued, "I am convinced this is the appropriate time to re-assess to carry forward."

"It is in the organization's best interests that it have the benefit of younger direction with a new approach and philosophy now, well in advance of my mandatory retirement date in 1969."

He will remain as a consultant to The AP. He said he plans to undertake no other employment.

Benjamin M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star and president of The AP, said in a statement that the board "takes this opportunity to express for itself and for the membership of The Associated Press our recognition and appreciation of Mr. Starzel's outstanding service."

"During the two concluding decades of his distinguished AP career of 34 years, his performance as an executive and for the past 14 years as chief executive demonstrated a high order of leadership in constructive planning and administration of expansion of AP operations in this country and abroad," McKelway said.

"The directors are gratified that Mr. Starzel continues after retirement to be available in a consultative capacity."

Lisbon Board Accepts Bid To Rid School of Termites

LISBON — The Lisbon Board of Education Tuesday night accepted a bid of $2,810 by Plummer Diehl, operator of the Diehl Exterminating Co. of Salem, to rid the high school of termites.

Diehl said an inspection showed the termites had infested the gymnasium and band floor and several door arches. He said treatment by his firm would include a five-year guarantee against reinfestation.

This is the second time in several years termites have been discovered in the building. The last time they were found in the old home economics room and several door frames.

The board authorized a salary increase for Raymond Glausser, custodian, to $3,870 per year, effective Sept. 1.

Members also discussed school policy on admittance of underage children if they passed psychologists tests. Supt. Oliver Payne was authorized to study the situation with principals and the psychologist and present a recommendation.

The board directed that teachers must take X-rays or Mantoux tests for the detection of tuberculosis between Aug. 1 and Sept. 15 of even years. It re-invested $90,000 in building funds and purchased the Croft Educational Service at $76 per year at the request of Supt. Payne.

Supt. Payne reported on the improvements at both McKinley and Lincoln Schools.

Mrs. Lynne Woods, speech and hearing therapist, will devote the major portion of two half days to grading and assisting Miss Dorothy Cameron and Mrs. Genevieve Sexton, with their work, the board decided.

The contract of Fithian Type-writer Sales of Salem for service of typewriters used in the school was renewed. Mrs. Mary Pettit has agreed to tutor David Barton for the school years, it was reported. The boy is a victim of rheumatic fever.

All school buses but one passed recent inspections, it was announced. The bus not approved will be repaired and inspected again.

DISPLAYS WOOD OBJECTS — The wood carving of bowing angels held by its creator, Genevieve Comerford, is called Ark of the Covenant. A symbol of Advent, it is made of avodire wood with inlay of amaranth. To the left is a 20-piece carving by Miss Comerford representing the Holy Ghost, seven gifts and 12 fruits.

Will Display Handicraft In Art Show

Some years ago a friend gave Genevieve Comerford of 607 E. State St. a set of wood samples. Miss Comerford tried her hand at carving - and an absorbing hobby was formed.

A few days ago Miss Comerford, a clerk in the yard goods and notions department of Strouss-Hirschberg Co. here for 10 years, retired. Much of her time in the future will be devoted to her hobby, wood carving, which by now has won for her the plaudits of friends and the invitation to display her handicraft in an Illinois art show where the work of well known artists is included.

At the time Miss Comerford was taking up wood carving with no teacher other than herself, she was pondering the significance of liturgical symbols. Thus it came about that she has made a specialty of carving religious symbols.

So Did Rocket Expert Von Braun

Don't Worry If Your Child Is Having Trouble With Math

By PETER REHAK

OBERAUDORF, Germany (AP) — Is your child having trouble with mathematics? Don't worry, rocket expert Werner von Braun did too when he was a boy.

His father, Baron Magnus von Braun, was exposed to as many ups and downs in his son's early school career as any space-age father.

The elder Von Braun, at 84 an imposing man with a short white beard, recalled in an interview that his son failed the 9th grade because he wasn't interested in the arithmetic and kindred subjects he later found essential to his career.

Werner von Braun, whose complex calculations years later were to send the first U.S. space satellite into orbit, at the time was enrolled at Berlin's exclusive College Royal Francaise.

His father, a wealthy landowner in Lower Silesia, was general manager of an agricultural lending bank in Berlin.

Speaking of the Berlin school, he said: "I enrolled Werner there to give him a background in languages. Most of the school's subjects were taught in French. 'Unfortunately, languages bored him terribly at this time.'

Even then, however, Werner was interested in the heavens.

"His mother, who influenced him greatly during her life, had a great interest in astronomy and lit in him a passion for the skies," the baron said. "He would spend hour after hour looking through a telescope."

The elder Von Braun said he could not recall his son's early rocket experiments, the experiments which led him to develop the V2 rocket for the Germans in World War II.

After Werner failed at the Berlin school, his parents decided he needed a change of environment and enrolled him at a boarding school at Eittersburg, near Weimar.

It was at the Hermann Lietz High School at Speikeroog, on the North Sea, that the trend changed.

"When I opened a letter from the school I got a big surprise," the father said proudly. "It said Werner was way ahead of his class in mathematics and that his progress was remarkable."

"Later I was told that he had substituted for a sick teacher and taught the final school year in mathematics."

The baron said his other two sons sailed through school with little trouble.

The eldest, Sigismund, is a diplomat recently appointed observer for the West German government at the United Nations. Magnus, the youngest, is an executive with Chrysler Corp. in Detroit.

16 Area Grid Tilts Set As Season Passes Midway Point

Loop Titles Still Up for Grabs

United, St. Mary's Clash Important

By LYNN BROWNE

Sixteen grid contests involving 25 teams in the area are slated this weekend as the Ohio scholastic football season slips past the midway point with only one of the three district league crowns apparently sewed-up.

Lowellville's relentless Rockets give every indication of repeating as Inter-County League champions but the titles in the Tri-County League and Turnpike Conference are still pretty much up for grabs.

THE ROCKETS have rolled over five opponents on their never-ending march to a perfect season and will, in all probability, have little trouble disposing of the host Greenford Bobcats in a league clash Saturday. Lowellville is 3-0 in loop action.

Only two other contests in the Inter-County League are slated for the weekend. Mineral Ridge will battle at McDonald Friday, and Western Reserve will be at North Lima on Saturday.

COLUMBIANA AND Louisville appear to be the two big powers in the Tri-County League as neither has suffered a loss this season. A showdown between the two squads is not scheduled until Oct. 26, however, when the Leopards travel to Columbiana to battle the Clippers.

Louisville meets only token opposition this week as it travels to Poland Saturday and pits its 5-0 mark against the Bulldogs' 1-2-1 record.

Meanwhile, Columbiana will play host to Coach Ike Farrar's Leetonia Bears Friday and will, in all probability, have a sterner test than the Leopards. The Bears were humbled 48-8 by Louisville in their first loop fray but have recovered and posted consecutive wins over East Palestine and Minerva.

COACH BUD BUCHER and his Lisbon Blue Devils will be on the road Friday at Sebring to round out loop action.

The most important game of the weekend, at least as far as league titles are concerned, will be played Saturday at Warren when the Golden Eagles of United High invade to battle the defending Turnpike Conference champion St. Mary's Warriors.

United goes into the contest with a 1-0 league mark and a 2-3 overall record and will be seeking to get back into the win column after suffering losses to West Branch and Beaver Local, respectively, in its last two outings.

ST. MARY'S, ON THE other hand, enters the fray on the tide of victory after posting an impressive 40-20 win over Greenville St. Michael last week.

Canfield and Springfield Local will do battle Saturday at Struthers in the only other conference clash.

Seven non-loop contests will be played Friday. Salem will entertain Akron Hoban in an effort to come back from a 30-6 lacing at the hands of Marietta last week; East Palestine will be at New Brighton, Pa.; Youngstown Rayen will invade East Liverpool; Minerva will battle at Carrollton; West Branch and Hubbard will clash at Hubbard; at 7:45 p.m. Beaver Local will entertain Northeastern, Pa.; and Wellsville will play host to Weirton Madonna.

Salineville will travel to Crestview Saturday to round out area action. Jackson-Milton, the only district team not slated, will return to action next Saturday against visiting Springfield Local.

Area league standings are as follows:

TRI-COUNTY LEAGUE
Team	W	L	T
Louisville	2	0	0
Columbiana	2	0	0
Lisbon	2	1	0
Leetonia	2	1	0
Minerva	1	2	0
East Palestine	0	2	1
Poland	0	2	1
Sebring	0	2	1
TURNPIKE CONFERENCE
Team	W	L	T
Warren St. Mary's	2	0	0
United Local	1	0	0
Canfield	1	1	0
Springfield Lo.	0	1	0
Jackson-Milton	0	2	0
INTER-COUNTY LEAGUE

Greenford	1	2	0

Western Reserve	0	3	0

Center Dave Behrman of Michigan State is an impressive sight in football uniform. He's 283 pounds but suited up he goes to 285.

Len Chappell, who starred for Wake Forest and scored 2,165 points in three seasons to set a new school record, was the No. 1 draft choice of the Syracuse Nationals in the National Basketball Association.

Shoemaker's 144 Leads Ohio Open

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Open Golf Championship wheeled today into its 36-hole finish with 10 Buckeye hotshots blanketed within a four-stroke spread at the head of the pack.

Out front as the starting field of 138 was slashed to 40 professionals and 20 amateurs was 52-year-old Dick Shoemaker of Cleveland, the 1955 and 1956 victor.

Shoemaker had four birdies and five bogies in Tuesday's tour of Firestone Country Club's wet and windswept, 6,165-yard course. That gave him a 1-over par 71—the day's best round—and a two-day total of 144, 4-over par.

A stroke back were Leo Biagetti of Ashland and Bob Shave Jr. of Willoughby. Three shots off the pace were Bob Zimmerman of Dayton and Don Shock of Columbus.

At 148 were Tom Cassidy of Circleville; Jim Lucius of Troy; Wally Ulrich, Akron pro; Frank Harned of Cleveland, and Dick Rhyon Jr. of Columbus.

Professional scores of 157 and amateur cards of 167 were good enough to make the cutoff for today's play.

Shoemaker, who captured the Senior's title with 144 for the first 36 holes and picked up $60 in the race for those over 50, could add another $500 by winning the Open crown. The pros will split $2,450 and the amateurs $780 at the end of the 72-hole medal play test.

Terry Opposes Sanford On Mound . . . World Series Resumes Today; Rain Halts Tuesday's Action

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Rival managers Ralph Houk of New York and Alvin Dark of San Francisco insisted today the 24-hour World Series rain-enforced delay would prove of no advantage to either team as the Yankees and Giants met in the fifth game all even at two victories apiece.

The belief here, however, is that Tuesday's rain-out will be more helpful to the Yankees than to the Giants, although neither manager planned to make a line-up or a pitching change. The same right-handed pitchers were ready to hook up today — Ralph Terry for the Yankees and Jack Sanford for the Giants.

The delay also caused no change in the odds. The Yankees remained a 7-5 favorite to win today and 8-5 favorites to capture the series.

The weather forecast was not optimistic. The prediction was for drizzle and fog during the night and mostly cloudy throughout the day.

The big change, may come in the sixth game, scheduled to be played Friday in San Francisco after a day off for travel. Under the original pitching rotation, the sixth game starters were to be right-hander Bill Stafford for the Yankees and left-hander Billy Pierce for the Giants.

Dark still plans to pitch Pierce, who dropped a 3-2 decision to Stafford in the third game, last Sunday. But Houk most likely will switch from Stafford to Whitey Ford, the brilliant southpaw who was slated to work the seventh game, if one was necessary.

"While I don't see where the delay would give either team an advantage," said Houk, "it does give me a chance to go two ways for the sixth game Friday. Before I would have used Stafford, now I can start either Ford or Stafford. I won't decide until we arrive in San Francisco."

Dark said he would have preferred to play although acknowledging that the field was unplayable, but felt certain the postponement would have no effect whatsoever on either team.

"I had planned to pitch Sanford in the fifth, Pierce in the sixth and come back with Sanford for the seventh game," he said. "The rotation is still the same except that now I may use either Sanford or Billy O'Dell in the seventh game."

The Hawks finished third last season and are aiming for the top spot which has been dominated by the Montreal Canadiens the last five years.

While the Hawks and Leafs open the season tonight, the other four NHL clubs will be idle. They open Thursday night with Montreal at Boston and Detroit at New York.

The campaign in which each team plays 70 games ends March 24.

Rose Bowl Is Approved For Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's 1962 football team, thanks to the university's Faculty Council, may yet get a chance to redeem itself in sunny Southern California.

The council, by a 36-20 vote, has given the Buckeyes permission to accept a Rose Bowl bid if one comes.

The decision Tuesday was a reversal of last year's council stand (28-25) when it denied the 1961 Big Ten champion Bucks a Rose Bowl trip.

Now all the Bucks have to do is win the conference championship again to earn the chance to atone before West Coast fans in Pasadena for the 9-7 loss to UCLA in the Los Angeles Coliseum last Saturday. The coast representative will be the six-school Athletic Association of Western Universities (AAWU) champion, and the Buckeyes must be hoping it will be UCLA for a shot at revenge.

Under the new ruling Ohio State will participate so long as a formal contract is in effect between the Big Ten and the AAWU to match conference representatives in the annual New Year's game.

The agreement between the conferences, in effect about 15 years after World War II, was killed by a Big Ten tie vote and lapsed last year. This was probably one reason last year's Faculty Council—one-third of its membership is changed each year—voted down the bowl junket.

The Big Ten-AAWU Rose Bowl tie-up resumed on this year's 6-4 vote of the midwestern universities making up the Big Ten. Ohio State voted against the tie-up, as it had previously. But Minnesota switched from "no" to "yes" to break the 5-5 deadlock.

after its Faculty Senate accepted a bid to the Jan. 1, 1962, game for the '61 Gophers.

Thus the Ohio State position is, "We're against it, but we'll go along with the conference majority."

Football coach Woody Hayes received news of Tuesday's ruling happily. "Fine, just fine," he kept saying.

"Now," he said, "all we have to do is earn it (the bowl bid)."

Objectors to the postseason game cited commercialism, athletic overemphasis to the detriment of academics, financial expense and disruption of scholastic routine.

WILLS WAS FAST AT 12 WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Dodger shortstop Maury Wills was so fast at age 12, the playground director sent him home for his birth certificate, recalls Mrs. Guy O. Wills, mother of the new base stealing champion.

"At playground track meets they used to say 'Maury Wills first, Donny Wills second and Bobby Wills third,'" says Mrs. Wills, the mother of 12 children and wife of a southeast Washington minister.

Maury lives in Spokane with his wife and five children.

NEW YORK (AP)—The World Series teams are battling again today, leaving us just room enough to give you the winners of this weekend's college football games.

Last week's assortment of upsets had 12 losers among the 49 games that went to a decision for a .755 average.

Bill Glass Leads Browns' Defense Unit

CLEVELAND (AP)—As sluggish as the Cleveland Browns' offense has been this season, that's how stout the defense has been—except for one game.

Led by newcomer Gill Glass, a defensive end, the Browns have held three of their opponents to their lowest point totals of the year. The New York Giants scored only seven points, the Dallas Cowboys 10 and the Washington Redskins 17—seven of those on an intercepted lateral pass, chargeable to the offense.

The exception was the Philadelphia game, which the Browns lost 35-7.

Glass' bull - like rushes have taken a little heat off the Browns' secondary, rattled by opponents' passing a year ago.

The Browns are counting heavily on their defensive line to put steady pressure on Johnny Unitas, Baltimore Colts quarterback, when the teams meet here Sunday.

GOLFING BROTHERS

CHATTANOOGA (AP)—Chattanooga's White brothers, Larry and Jimmy, had a busy two weeks of golf. A week apart, Jimmy, 18, went straight from his summer night job to win the city junior golf championship and Larry, 16, won the Lookout mountain junior golf cup. Larry was medalist in both tournaments.

supposedly has a weakness at full-back but Houston won't be able to prove it.

Texas over Oklahoma: The Longhorns probably aren't as strong as a year ago and the Sooners are better but Texas has enough margin to win.

Penn State over Army: The Pennsylvania Lions have only two full teams, Army boasts of three but the Cadets do not have either Dave Robinson or Roger Kochman.

Louisiana State over Miami: The Miamians have squeaked to three straight triumphs. The Bayou Bengals stop the streak right there.

Washington over Oregon State: The Huskie defense to keep Terry Baker bottled up.

Arkansas over Baylor: The defensive-minded Porkers have the young halfbacks to duplicate last year's 23-13 triumph.

Purdue over Miami (Ohio): A chance for the Boilermaker subs to earn their letters.

Ohio State over Illinois: This is the Illini homecoming and the grads will be saddened by what coach Woody Hayes' angered Buckeyes, spilled by UCLA a week ago, will do to their team.

Georgia Tech over Tennessee: Tennessee has line problems. Georgia Tech has Dave Watson and Rufus Guthrie, twin candidates for All-America at guard.

UCLA over Colorado State University: The Coloradoans have lost 19 in a row.

Wisconsin over Notre Dame: Pat Richter, giant pass catching end, gives the Badgers the nod.

Pittsburgh over West Virginia: The Mountaineers haven't been scored upon this year but the

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

A group of local nimrods standing around in a garage at North Georgetown heard the old folk song being broadcast over a car radio, "Home, Home on the Range, Where the Deer and the Antelope Play". Thus, an idea was born when one of them suggested, "let's head for the wide open spaces and find out what all this deer and antelope business is all about".

A party was formed consisting of Eugene Reichenbach, Dan Hummerik and Larry Davies of Knox Twp., and Tom Fidoe of Salem. They headed for the wild west to Laramie, Wyo. Having watched "Laramie" on TV they were very much surprised to learn no cowboys existed in Laramie when they arrived. Instead a couple of families and a "consolidated" school consisting of one-room, six pupils and a teacher. That was the population.

The hunt lasted four days. Three antelopes and four mule deer were taken. Another antelope could have been had but one of the boys failed to obtain an antelope permit. Eugene brought home a beautiful specimen, a 12 point mule deer, so he is having the head mounted. Mule deer are larger than our Virginia white-tail deer so all in all they came home loaded with wild game.

Another interesting thing I was told that the guide told them if a deer was shot late in the day not to try and bring it down the hillside. Just place the exploded shell on the deer's neck and the coyotes won't go near the carcass when they smell gun powder. Eugene followed instructions and dragged his to camp the next morning in good shape. At any rate, it was a most successful and exciting hunt.

Duck hunters will do well to go to the Court House in Lisbon and contact the County Clerk's office and read the Council orders on file there that explains all the rules and regulations about waterfowl. Hunting this year is more complicated than in previous years. If you hunt and violate one of the laws it's your fault. Not knowing the bag limit or one duck or goose from the other is the hunter's responsibility. Actually, as scarce as some ducks are becoming I am a little surprised an open season will be in effect at noon, Oct. 17. Could be that if things get worse we may not have an open season on waterfowl.

U.S. Golf Team Leads World Amateur Tourney

KAWANA, Japan (AP)—American amateur golfers survived a pack of putting troubles today and seized a slim lead over Canada in the third World Amateur Team

Championship of Golf. Canada's Gary Cowan took individual honors for the opening round of the 72-hole competition with a two-under-par 68 over the Pacific-rimmed Fuji course. But three United States golfers, Dick Sikes, Deane Beman and Labron Harris Jr., put together the best team score, 212. Sikes, a 22-year-old University of Arkansas physical education student who twice has won the U.S. Public Links title, shot 33-36—69 over the difficult 6,587-yard, par 35-35-70 course. Beman, a Bethesda, Md., insurance broker who was 1960 U.S. amateur champion, had a par 70 and Harris, the current U.S. amateur champion from Stillwater, Okla., had a 73.

In the team competition for the Eisenhower Trophy, four men represent each nation but only the three lowest scores are counted each day. The fourth member of the U.S. team, Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., had a 74 today and his score didn't figure in the team total. Cowan, at 23 a former Canadian amateur champion, posted nines of 33-35 in his brilliant round. He was joined by 45-year-old Nick Weslock at 71 and Bill Wakeham at 76 to give Canada a second-place total of 215. New Zealand, paced by Walter Godfrey, a 20-year-old salesman who matched Sikes' 69, held third place with 218. Ross Newdick added ed a 74 and Ross Murray a 75 to Godfrey's sub-par score. In fourth place among the 22 national teams competing was the combined Britain and Ireland team with a 222 total. Following were South Africa with 223, Argentina, 219, and Mexico with 225, Japan with 227 and Australia with 230.

185 Teachers In 5-County Region Attend Meeting

Approximately 185 teachers from a five-county area met Tuesday afternoon at the Canfield High School to discuss legislative proposals to be submitted to the 1963 session of the Ohio Legislature.

This was the 20th annual drive-in conference sponsored by the Ohio Department of Classroom Teachers and the Ohio Education Association, with Dorothy Jones, Sebring elementary school principal and president of the Mahoning County Education Association, as hostess.

The theme of the drive-in conference was "Ohio's Investment in the Future."

A discussion of four legislative proposals and endorsement was given by the 185 teachers attending the meeting.

Among the legislative proposals discussed were: A permit to establish a uniform aid for admitting first graders; to permit all school districts to contract and pay for school surveys and studies; amend a section of the revised code to permit more effective organization of social studies curriculum of Ohio and to support a budget by the State Board of Education to staff a library consultant.

The conference was attended by teachers from Columbiana, Carroll, Portage, Trumbull and Mahoning counties.

Smith told those at the dinner: "Many of the people who benefit from the 12 participating agencies and the Red Cross are people you see every day — people you know. Everybody benefits from these services."

Addressing himself to the fund captains and team representatives, the chairman declared: "You are not begging for charity, nor for a mere 'donation'. You are soliciting an investment in a community with a heart and a sincere concern for others."

Near the end of his talk, Smith remarked: "A victory in this campaign will prove to be a real boost to the morale of Salem because everyone can be proud of everyone else."

The Tuesday night dinner and catering service were given free by Jim Aldom, who also pledged a contribution from his company which will be realized through payroll deductions.

Industrial payroll deductions this year tend to extend over more than one or two pays, and may even extend over a whole year of pays, according to Fund leaders.

George Baillie Jr., chairman of the advanced gifts committee, reported a collection of $35,000 and expressed confidence in reaching his aim of $40,000. Jerry Colaizzi announced that $2,200 of a $3,500 goal has been collected from the professional health team.

Postmaster Ray Reasbeck was toastmaster for the dinner program. Rev. Arthur Brown Jr. of the Church of the Nazarene gave the invocation. The pledge of allegiance to the American flag and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" were led by Edwin Miller, with Mrs. Miller as piano accompanist.

A prayer of dedication was offered by Capt. Jean Manholan of the Salvation Army. Chest Association Secretary Bryon Maxson explained the mechanics of making out pledge cards and the meeting closed with benediction by Rev. Richard Gaffney of St. Paul's Catholic Church.

Report Dates Set

United Fund General Chairman Paul E. Smith has requested that campaign captains report their collections to the Red Cross office on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of the next two weeks.

He also asked that all workers give their contributions to their captains or to Byron Maxson in the Chamber of Commerce office or to Mrs. Hobart Butcher at Red Cross headquarters.

McCulloch Jr., Mrs. George Kyle, Miss Katherine Gibson, Mrs. George Emery, and Jack Rance. The president of the Salem Ministerial Association is an automatic member of the board.

Formerly serving only the city of Salem, the Home Nursing Service now covers the entire Perry Township which comprises approximately 3,000 more persons than Salem's approximate 14,000.

There was every reason to believe Kennedy and other high officials hoped the negotiations would be successful. The White House in the past has looked with approval on efforts to free the prisoners.

Precaution Taken

But the Kennedy administration has taken extraordinary precautions to cloak any activities in which it has engaged in connection with the negotiations. Sources report the President never has discussed the matter with congressional leaders at frequent White House sessions.

With a few scattered exceptions, Senate and House members profess to be completely in the dark on what is going on.

Mims and Steinberger riding the courier's motorcycle, followed the White House cars across the field.

Mims said later they entered the area through an open gate without seeing the signs.

Mims said he was taking pictures with a long-range lens about 100 yards from the plane when he felt a hand on his shoulder. Mims said he turned and saw Clint Hill, Mrs. Kennedy's personal Secret Service agent.

"You're under arrest," Mims said Hill told him. "I'm with the Secret Service. I'd like to have that film."

Edgar Wildy, assistant Secret Service chief for security, said that although Hill spoke to the photographer "he did not confine or arrest him. That was done by the airport police."

Wildy said the film was confiscated because the pictures were taken "under circumstances that were not proper."

Airport police took Mims and Steinberger to a terminal, where they were questioned by H. F. Fletcher of the Federal Aviation Agency. Both were quickly released.

A spokesman for UPI said the news service "considers the incident closed."

Meredith issued his first public statement on the events of the last 10 days. He criticized the Army for segregating Negro troops and took a verbal shot at an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People who had implied Meredith was picked by the NAACP for the integration attempt.

Calling the statement "an insult to my dignity," Meredith said it was untrue. The NAACP later issued a statement that Meredith had come to the group with his plans to apply and "was thus self selected."

Development of County Resources To Be Described

Everett Rogers of Ohio State University will be the principal speaker at the public meeting sponsored by the Columbiana County Agricultural Council Oct. 25 at 8 p.m. at St. George's parish hall in Lisbon.

Rogers will discuss resource development in Columbiana County and will explain the resource development work of Ohio State University and the Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development.

He will also describe rural area development being carried on in a number of Ohio counties and the Federal Area Redevelopment Act which now applies to some 20 counties in Ohio. The letter is related to the rate of unemployment in the county and provides assistance for counties that meet the eligibility requirements.

The subject will be of general interest to both rural and urban people, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture.

The meeting is open to the public and various organizations in the county are being asked to send representatives to hear Rogers.

Deadline Set for Joining Steer Club

LISBON — Any 4-H member 12 years or older interested in joining the Columbiana County Steer Club should obtain his steer by Oct. 31, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

The steer should weigh between 325 and 475 pounds and be of a recognized beef breed. A complete copy of the rules and the necessary application blanks are available at the county extension office here. Applications must be returned by Oct. 31, Myers said.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Let Doctor Decide Antibiotic Need

There is no doubt penicillin and the many similar preparations have been a boon to mankind. Although they have saved many lives, they have not been an unmixed blessing. As with most other substances that enter the human body, some persons are found to have an allergy to one or more of these antibiotics and suffer a reaction when the drug is given.

An even more serious result of giving antibiotics is the fact that the disease germs they are so effective against at first in time develop a resistance or immunity to the drugs. This process has been unduly hastened by the widespread and frequently unnecessary use of antibiotics.

DRUGS THAT ARE primarily lifesavers for persons who have an overwhelming infection or in whom infection is a disastrous complication of some chronic debilitating disease, have all too often been given for such trivial conditions as the common cold. It is human nature for anyone who is sick, even from something that is known to run a short, harmless course, to clamor loudly for relief.

An acquaintance of mine has such a low tolerance to the ordinary discomforts of an otherwise pleasant life that he badgers his doctor into giving him the latest antibiotic whenever he has a slight cold or a low fever.

This needless and essentially selfish action not only does this man no good, it helps to nullify the effectiveness of these important drugs so that when this same man or anyone else really needs such a drug it will be powerless to help him.

SO FAR, the research chemist and biologists employed by our large drug manufacturers have met this problem by discovering new antibiotics and by modifying the old ones. A time may come when this can no longer be counted on to pull us out of our self-made dilemma.

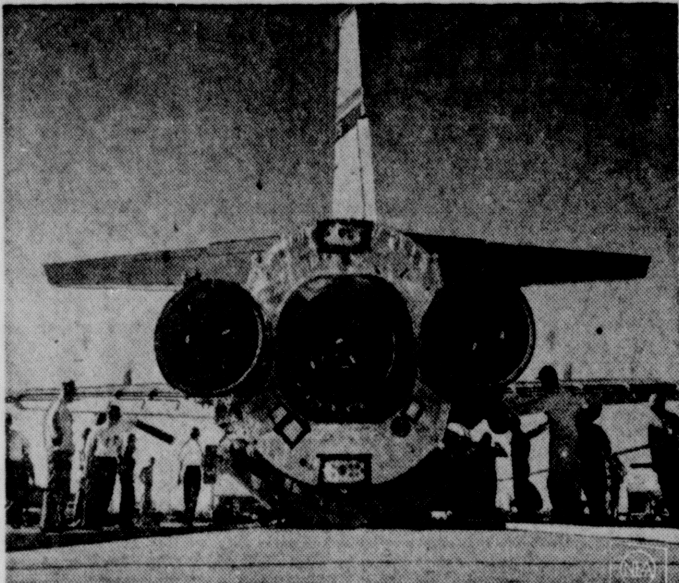

The moral is obvious: Let your doctor decide whether or not you need an antibiotic.

Q—Can sucking antibiotic pastilles over a long period cause sore mouth and gums?

A—Several reports indicate that this is possible. When a sore mouth develops while you are using the pastilles why not discontinue their use and see whether the soreness disappears promptly? If it doesn't, you should have your doctor try to find the cause.

Q—Will the fact that antibiotics are so widely used help people to live to a greater age than before?

A—Antibiotics, by saving the lives of persons with serious infections, especially children and young adults, will help them pull through and thus attain a greater age than they would otherwise have done. But these drugs cannot be expected to influence the chronic degenerative diseases of older persons, such as heart disease and cancer. They will not, therefore, add much to longevity in this age group.

SECRET WEAPON — This looks like a missile with wings and tail. Then again, it could be an airplane with a giant-size rocket engine. Actually, it's an Atlas missile being unloaded from the rear of a transport plane at Walker AFB, Roswell, N.M. Trick of perspective makes it seem to merge with the airplane. The intercontinental-range missile was destined for installation in an underground silo.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

The Columbiana Racing Assn. had their monthly meeting upstairs after their afternoon of interesting trophy races.

They black topped the track and paid for it this year. Next year they plan on a new higher protective fence and bleachers around about half the track.

All these fellows who race are family men, some owners and have responsible jobs. This is their hobby and they like it.

LITTLE LIZ

On the Bookshelves

New Books at Salem Public Library

FICTION

MOONTRAP by Don Berry. Johnson Monday had come to Oregon long ahead of the big westward movement of settlers. He had married an Indian wife and settled on a little farm near Oregon City. But when more and more settlers came from the East, they bring government and preachers and their own ideas about what is a proper way to live. The struggle is violent, the story well told.

THE BEST AMERICAN SHORT STORIES OF 1962, edited by Martha Foley & David Burnett. This is nearly always a worth-while collection. Another feature of this particular edition is that the great majority of stories included have been chosen from magazines not usually read widely by the average person; magazines like Prism, Southwest Review, MSS, The Kanyon Review and the Sewanee Review.

ACT OF DESTRUCTION by Ronald Hardy. A game warden in Africa has such a strong admiration for the country in its natural state that he goes to extreme and foolish measures to protect it from encroaching civilization in the form of a dam which will bury his most favorite spot with many feet of water.

A GRUE OF ICE by Geoffrey Jankins. A strange search for an island, almost unknown, in the Antarctic provides the locale for a grim and exciting suspense story about a space-age secret of great danger to the world.

THE THIN RED LINE by James Jones. A company of soldiers go through the battle for Guadalcanal. Although told with full accompaniment of GI language, this is a painstakingly thorough and memorable dissection of what war does to men. There is no one hero, but a whole company of men reacting each according to his own particular personality.

MR. SEIDMAN AND THE GEL-SHA by Elick Moll. A much more delightful book than Mr. Seidman and Son in many ways, this takes us to Japan with the little man with the philosophical mind and the Jewish accent.

A LITTLE TREACHERY by Phyllis Paul. Two eccentric English sisters are conned into buying an ancient moldering cottage which sits directly on a busy highway. The whole book is pervaded with the chill from the damp and the imaginings of the minds trembling on the brink of madness. In spite of this, it is a story which holds the interest to the end.

THE SERPENT SLEEPING by Edward Weismiller. A young American counter-espionage agent in Cherbourg in 1944 has to conduct an investigation into alleged pro-German activities of a lovely French girl who protests her innocence. There is a great deal more to this book than just the spy story, however.

THE HUGO WINNERS edited by Isaac Asimov. The Hugo Award is given each year to the best Science Fiction story as judged by the World Science Fiction Convention. These are the winners beginning with 1955 and going through 1961.

For Young Adults:

LONGHORNS FOR FORT SILL by Trevathan. A 19-year-old has to drive a herd of steers through Indian country, and that turns out to be the least of his trouble.

THE RIVER OF PEE DEE JACK by Christopher Webb. A group from a fort on the Athabaska River follow an old trapper who has found a river leading to the Pacific.

NON-FICTION

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY by Ruth Cavan. A study of the causes of juvenile delinquency, and what can be done about it. It is illustrated with graphs and photographs and contains a bibliography at the end of each chapter.

MY SELF AND I by Constance A. Newland. This much-reviewed, much-discussed book tells in detail one woman's experiences while being given the drug lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD) as an aid to psychotherapy.

MONEY MANAGEMENT FOR YOUR FAMILY by Better Homes and Gardens magazine. This is meant for family purchase, but it would be equally useful to set up a family account book by. There are hints for places to go for financial advice, how to buy food economically, the best time of year to buy home equipment and many other items.

WORKSHOPS FOR THE WORLD by Graham Beckel and Felice Lee. A revised and up-to-date edition of a useful book explaining the many agencies of the United Nations.

SILENT SPRING by Rachel Carson. This forthright book should be read by every person who is in the least interested in the future of the human race, but particularly by all Americans because we are the worst offenders against the balance of nature. Miss Carson is far from being the first to decry our carelessness, but we hope that her warning will be heeded more than that of other people. With unanswerable logic she points out the result of indiscriminate and large-scale spraying with powerful poisons, usually with the intent of getting rid of a single pest. The widespread death which follows goes on through every species and finally affects man himself. Why do we not use our ingenuity to find more natural enemies to the unwanted insects instead of using more and more poison?

MODERN DISCOVERIES IN ARCHEOLOGY by Robert C. Suggs. This is a simply written book for the person who has done no previous reading about archeology, or for the ninth or tenth grade student. Perhaps the most valuable part of the book is the first chapter which describes the "how and why" of Carbon 14 dating.

VICTORY AT YORKTOWN by Donald Barr Chidsey. A brief and lively re-telling of the events of the last year of the Revolutionary war.

MY FATHER MARCONI by Degna Marconi. Marconi's daughter has done a sensitive biography of her father, and to her credit, one which is often very objective. It is interesting reading, because of the great interest one has in its subject and because it is well written.

TOLSTOY REMEMBERED by Sergei Tolstoy. Tolstoy's eldest son wrote these memoirs when he was quite old - they were not found until after his death. There are, of course, many other biographies of Tolstoy, but none come from immediate members of the family, so this is valuable source material.

IL DUCE by Christopher Hibbert. Mussolini was a complicated and contradictory personality. There has not been a biography of him except his own autobiography generally available. This impartial study therefore meets a long-felt need for Mussolini played an important role in recent history.

ORCHIDS ON THE CALABASH TREE by George T. Eggleston. A charming and gay story of a young American couple who decided to locate and build a house on the island of St. Lucia in the Caribbean.

Sputnik Plus Five

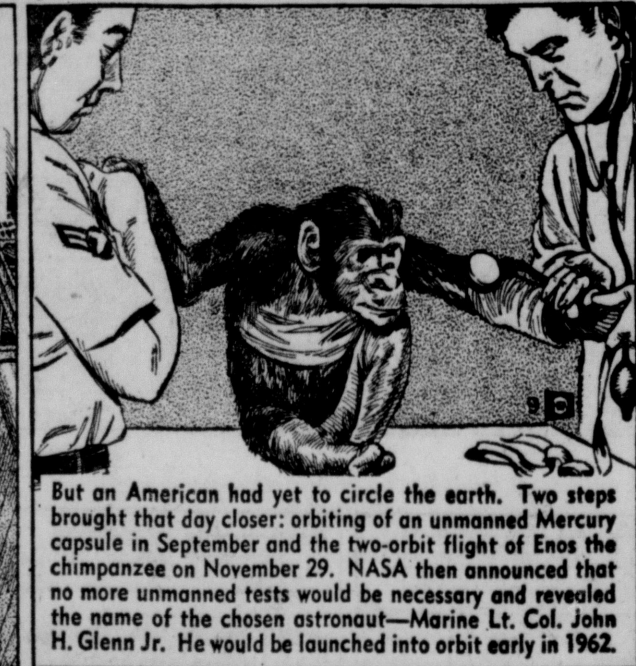

In August 1961, the first of the Ranger moon probes was orbited, but its second-stage Agena engine failed to kick it into deep space. (Not until Ranger IV in April 1962 was impact on the moon to be achieved.) On Oct. 11, AF Maj. Bob White, flying the X-15 rocket plane, forerunner of the Dyna-Soar space glider, set an altitude record of over 41 miles. (In July 1962, he was to reach almost 59 miles and become the nation's first winged astronaut.)

(9) Moon Ships and Monkeys

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane.

First flight of the tremendous Saturn booster - eleven feet taller than the Statue of Liberty - also took place in October. Its eight first-stage engines developed over one million pounds of thrust. Upper stages were dummy. Saturn's complete success raised U.S. hopes of being first to the moon.

But an American had yet to circle the earth. Two steps brought that day closer: orbiting of an unmanned Mercury capsule in September and the two-orbit flight of Enos the chimpanzee on November 29. NASA then announced that no more unmanned tests would be necessary and revealed the name of the chosen astronaut - Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. He would be launched into orbit early in 1962.
